City Hall, Hongkong, 13th May, 1880. the Right Honourable, the Earl of Kim berley. Her Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Colonies, &c., &c., &c. My Lord.—The Committee of this institution beg respectfully to call your attention to a cention that has arisen between themselves and a Excellency the Governor of this Colony with reference to the Annual Grant given by the local Government in aid of the City Hall. When the institution was opened in 1869 rant of $100 per month was given in order to ibrarian and Curator for the Public Library and Museum in the lower portion of the building the only condition being that the Library and Museum should be open to the public free." Some years were spent in getting the Library and Museum into order and it was not until the year 1875 that the Chinese Community attended or took any special interest in the Museum. Finding then that the Chinese Community and thus prevented Europeans attending 20 often as they otherwise would, and also to provent any collision between the lower classes of Chinese and Europeans, the Committee deemed it expedient to frame certain rules as to the admission of visitors to the Museum and set apart the mornings of the week days for the Chinese and the afternoons for the Europeans and other non-Chinese inhabitants.

On the 19th September, 1879, His Excellency the Governor called the attention of the Committee to the existing rules for admission to the the leading Chinese of the Colony, that they had expressed his concurrence with Mr. Ryrie's view, never known them complained of in any way by the Governor desires me to say that he is authothe Chinese themselves and that they had been rised by the Sepretary of State to suggest the framed in the interests of all porties; Chinese and on-Chinese alike. They further printed out to His Excellency that the regulation as to admit the option of reverting either wholly or in part sion was not a hard and inflexible rule, but was intended to be one that could be appealed to and change should be found to cause annoyance or opi reed should occasion require.

A basis of settlement of the dispute between the Committee and His Excellency was then privately subsalled to the Committee, which ran and so remove all causes of difference between in the following words: "The Committee will be ready to meet and to be, Sir, your most chedieut servant, associate with them the Bishop and the Chief Honourary Treasurer of the City Hall.

The only reply to this last letter was one reesived from the Colonial Secretary on the 12th March last, a copy of which is sent herewith. The Committee bave pover authorised Mr Ryrie to receive the Government Grant, nor de they consider that his position of Trustee sutitles him to do so. They have not been informed whether any money has actually been the Government to Mr. Ryrie, but the latter has not communicated with the Treasurer or in any way placed the money at the disposal of the Committee: on the other hand be has stated that he cannot pay over the Government Grant unless the rules as to admission and other matters connected with the management of the building meet with the approval of the Governor. The last sum of $600 received by the Honourary Treasurer was for the six months ending the 30th June 1879, and as far as the Committee are aware money has been paid to any one authorised by them to receive it since that time

In agreeing to the basis of settlement referred shove, the Committee did so with the distinct understanding that His Excellency the Governor would bimself feel bound by the decision of the majority present at the meeting, but regret to find that His Excellency, finding apparently that the decision was not in accordance with his own views on the matter; has refused to continue the payment of the Government Grant in the usual way.

The Committee would respectfully point out that the only person authorised to receive this moneyon behalf of the Committee is the Honorar Treasurer, who has been calculating upon this sum in his monthly disbursements on account the City Hall and that the Trustees (in whom the ground was vested in order to prevent its alienation) as such Trustees, have no control over the Institution, the regulation of which has always been wholly in the hands of the Committee:

The Trustees, of whom there were originally three appointed and of whom one has been dea and another absent from the Colony for many van'rs, have never hitherto claimed nor have the ever exercised any control over the working of the Institution nor was it ever contemplated that they should have; and Mr. Ryrie therefore as a Trustee has no voice whatever in the making of such rules for the regulation and control of the building as the Committee may consider necessary. member of the Committee Mr. Ryrie has an equal voice with the other members of the Committee. at the other members of the Committee consider that he is bound by the vote of the majority precisely the same way as any one of themselves. As the correspondence between the Committee and the Government up to the 13th October, 1879 has already been forwarded to your Lordship predecessor the Committee do not feel justified further troubling Your Lordship with the same, vernment Grant as whatever the decision comto upon the basis of settlement referred to they would have felt bound by a and they would not have consented to consider the matter in the way they did but for the expression of His Excellency the Governor's willingness to speede to this mode

DUKE." The N. C. Daily Neiss gives the following age count of the above event :- After a fortnight spont in Volcans Bay and at Hakodate, in almost constant fog the Iron Duke left Hakodate on Thursday, the 29th July, to visit Anawa Bay on Benares. the south coast of Saghalian. The Admiral's object in visiting this desolate region in foggy weather, with sees imperfectly surroyed, charts on small scales and marked untrustworthily, varying currents, and at an expenditure of £700 or £800 for coal, is unknown; but it may be assamed that he was acting under orders. At 5 a.m. on Friday, when going over six knots in a fog, the ship took the shore on a reef of rocks off the Island of Okesiri on the west coast of Yesse, 100 miles from Hakodate. The Admiral at once sent the Flag-Lieutenant in the steam-launch to Hakodato for assistance. There were at that port the French flagship Themis with the Kerguelen and the the Champlein, Russian flagship Naesdnik and H.M.'s corvette Modeste, all of which went with the utmost despatch to the assistance of the Iron Duke, taking lighters with them. All Friday and Saturday were spout in lightening ship, sending shot, shell, and provisions on shore, throwing coal overboard, and after the arrival of lighters, discharging heavy weights into them. By Saturday evening, the Champlain and Kerguelen were got into position with stoel hawsers attached for a great effort on Sanday morning. Unfortunately, after dark on Saturday, the Champlain got on the rooks, and the Iron Duhe had to let go the steel hawser, value £1,150, which got entangled with the Ch implain's screw and was entirely destroyed. Next morning the Chamilain was got off by the Modeste with loss of false keel, main beel damaged, screw disabled by harrior, and ship loaking. Up to Sanday all efforts to get the Iron Duke off had failed, and at times she bumped on the rocks. At 10 a.m. on Sunday, after 53 hours on the rocks, she came off in consequence of an extra rise in the tide and with the assistance of the Kerguelen. Daving the whole time the ship was on shore the weather was perfectly fine. Had there been any sen she must have been lost. "On arrival at Hakodate, the ship was examined inside and out by engineers and divers, who reported most serious duninge-several holes in the outer skin, one large enough to admit the diver, several plates broken and oranked, keel-plate bent, outer skin in some places bulged almost to touch the inner, some compariments of the double bottom full of water, Kingston valve forced in, some ribs bent and parts broken, and frame of ship generally damaged. It was estimated that to put her in a state of thorough repair in England would cost £80,000. During the time the ship was ashore, nothing could exceed the kindness and assistance of both French and Russians. On learning the extent of the damage the Admiral shifted his flug to the Modeste, taking with him H.I.H. Priuce Arisugawa Takehite, who is serving as a midshipmen on board, and ordered the ship to proceed at once to Hongkong against the monsoon and in the typhoon season. She experienced fine weather to Nagasaki, where she was examined by divers, and it was rumoured that the damage had been increased on the way down. It is thought she will be patched up and sent Home as soon as possible, or repaired suffi-
